What has God been saying to you lately?

How can we help each other hear and discern God more clearly?

How have you encountered his presence in a way that surprised you (out of the ordinary)?

How have you encountered his presence in a typical way (totally ordinary)?

Which of the ways do you need to hear God speak “in a little while” to you?

Do you need to be reminded of the close but not immediate state of the good?

Do you need to be reminded of the close but not immediate state of the end of the bad?

In today's passage and thinking about Mother's Day, there is the idea of children being birthed through the pain. How might you suffer or experience pain (or at a minimum some discomfort) for another person this week?

Is there something going on in your life (is God in the process of birthing something in you) that you need help with, you need someone else to do some or most of the work?
